2018 NUDE IN NATURE ISSUE

Do you like collecting art? Well then this is an issue you have to have on your bookshelf (or coffee table). Taking our time to make issues and making them bigger (16 sets in each book in place of 8) is truly helping us UP the quality of content in each print copy of VOLO and makes it much more valuable for you to buy as a collectors item for your collection.

I am personally proud of this issue. Every set has been handpicked and selected among literally hundreds submitted to us for review. To all those photographers who did not make it into the issue... We love your work too and my advice is to take inspiration from the perfection of natural moments captured in this book to polish those missing pieces in your work.

Another bit of news... VOLO is now properly relocated to LA, so if you are in LA reach out and let's rock together.

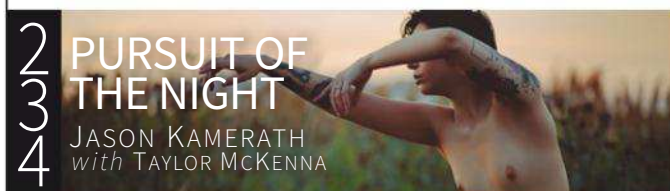

Thank You,

YLEVOL TAM NGUYEN
Editor, VOLO Magazine Worldwide

DAVIDE DRUSO

VOLONETWORK.COM/WALL

Davide is an Italian Photographer, born in Viterbo in 1966, has discovered this world in his 40s and can't live without it ever since.

At first, he started to portray landscapes, animals and everything that tickles his eyes, trying to bring the emotions and the inspirations alive through his pictures.

Davide loves fashion and glamour pictures, but also nude and portraits and he prefers to shoot outside with a natural light rather than inside with artificial light. Through his photography, Davide keeps the colors vivid and as intense as they naturally are, trying not to alter too much both garments and settings.

During the past two years, his work has been published on a few international fashion magazines, but the goal of Davides pictures is to have fun doing what he does and give back some emotions through his photography

SYLPH SIA shot by ROD CAPON

ROD CAPON

VOLONETWORK.COM/WALL

“From a young age, I have always loved the camera but went for a career in television & Media. With a deep love of landscape photography, I travelled extensively around Australia and south east Asia photographing & filming many amazing locations.

I had always had passion for photography but had never explored shooting with models, studio work and lighting, once I had signed up for my first workshop I was hooked in to the love of light and the freedom digital photography gave me to experiment. I have met many influencers in my photography but am still enjoying the journey of experimenting, learning and passion.

My photography has allowed me to travel the world shooting in all corners of the planet in amazing locations with some of the worlds most beautiful models.

Based on the Northern Beaches of Sydney Australia, I have some of the best beaches and beautiful coastline Australia has to offer right in my back yard.”

SYLPH SIA

Sylph Sia is an Australian based freelance model. While studying at university she began to seriously pursue modelling and since graduating has come to call it her fulltime profession. Since entering the industry in 2010 Sylph has built up extensive experience across a variety of modelling genres and in doing so discovered her passion for fine art nude modelling styles, which she has come to specialise in.

She firmly believes the timeless beauty and appeal of the human form, as well as its almost limitless expressive potential, is virtually incomparable – which makes artistic nude modelling such a fulfilling style to work in.

Sylph thrives on creativity of all kinds, and loves collaborating during the artistic process of projects. Through her genuine passion and dedication for her work Sylph has had the opportunity to work with an impressive array of creatives and some of the top industry professionals in the art photography world both in Australia and also on international assignments.

EMERGENCE

JORDAN RIVER shot by GAVEN WOLFE

Reawakening, coming out of hiding, and freeing of the chains that hold you back from your full authentic self. Learning to own and hold your power as a female in this world. We sought to create a movement of alchemical reactions that touch something true in YOU. Something that screams “fuck yes.” Something that whispers reminders of what it feels and looks like to be comfortable in your own skin, to be FULLY in your body, reclaiming female sensuality and sexuality as a source of empowerment and healing.

GAVIN WOLFE

VOLONETWORK.COM/WALL

Gavin's interest in photography developed early as a child shooting film on family vacations, which lead to shooting parties and events with the earliest digital point and shoot cameras. After high school graduation he packed up for over a year of international travel and decided it was time to invest in his first DSLR to better capture the essence of his journeys. Upon his return, he began building a career shooting musical performances and events to subsidize his lifestyle.

After making a name for himself locally, word of mouth led to him taking on almost any type of photography job you can imagine. After running the gamut, he found that nature, travel and the female form resonated much deeper with his visions than product, event and fashion photography. Thus began his momentous shift towards pursuing a less monetarily rewarding, yet more fulfilling passionate quest into the nude art world. To this day he spends the greater portion of each year spread all over the west coast of north America, as well as other continents. He feels beyond lucky to be fulfilling his passion for photographing beautiful and surreal nature landscapes, paired with brave models willing to complete the grueling hikes often required to reach such locations.

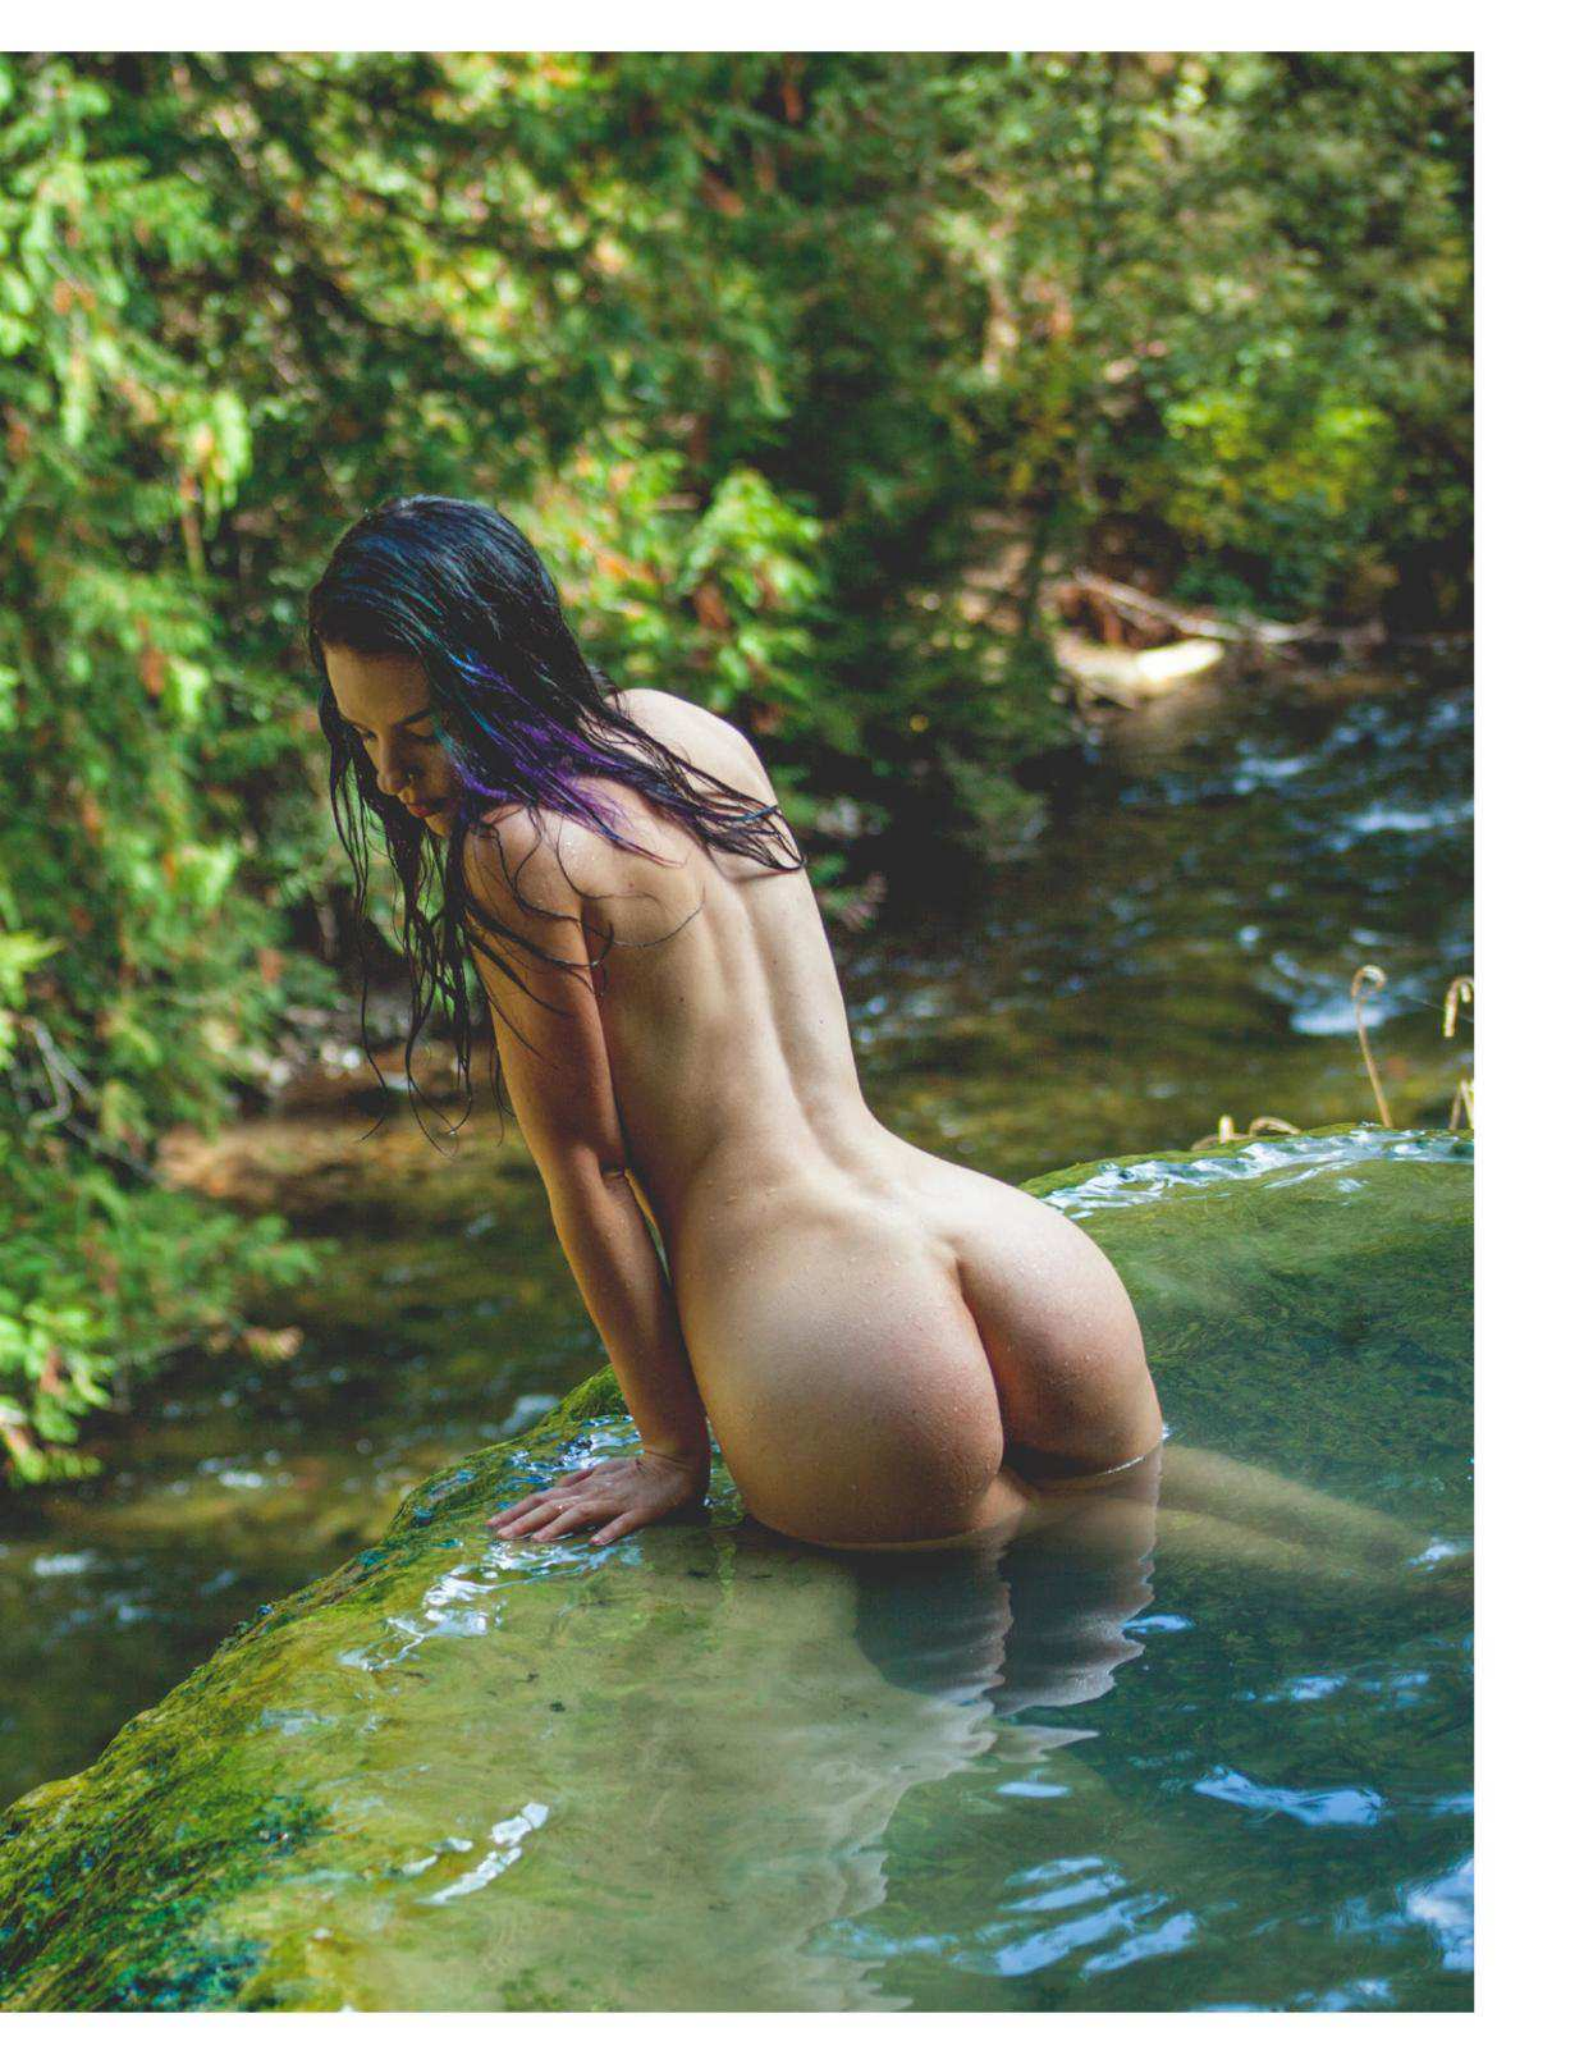

When asked about his motivation for creating and sharing his art he tends to lean towards one common theme of inspiration...

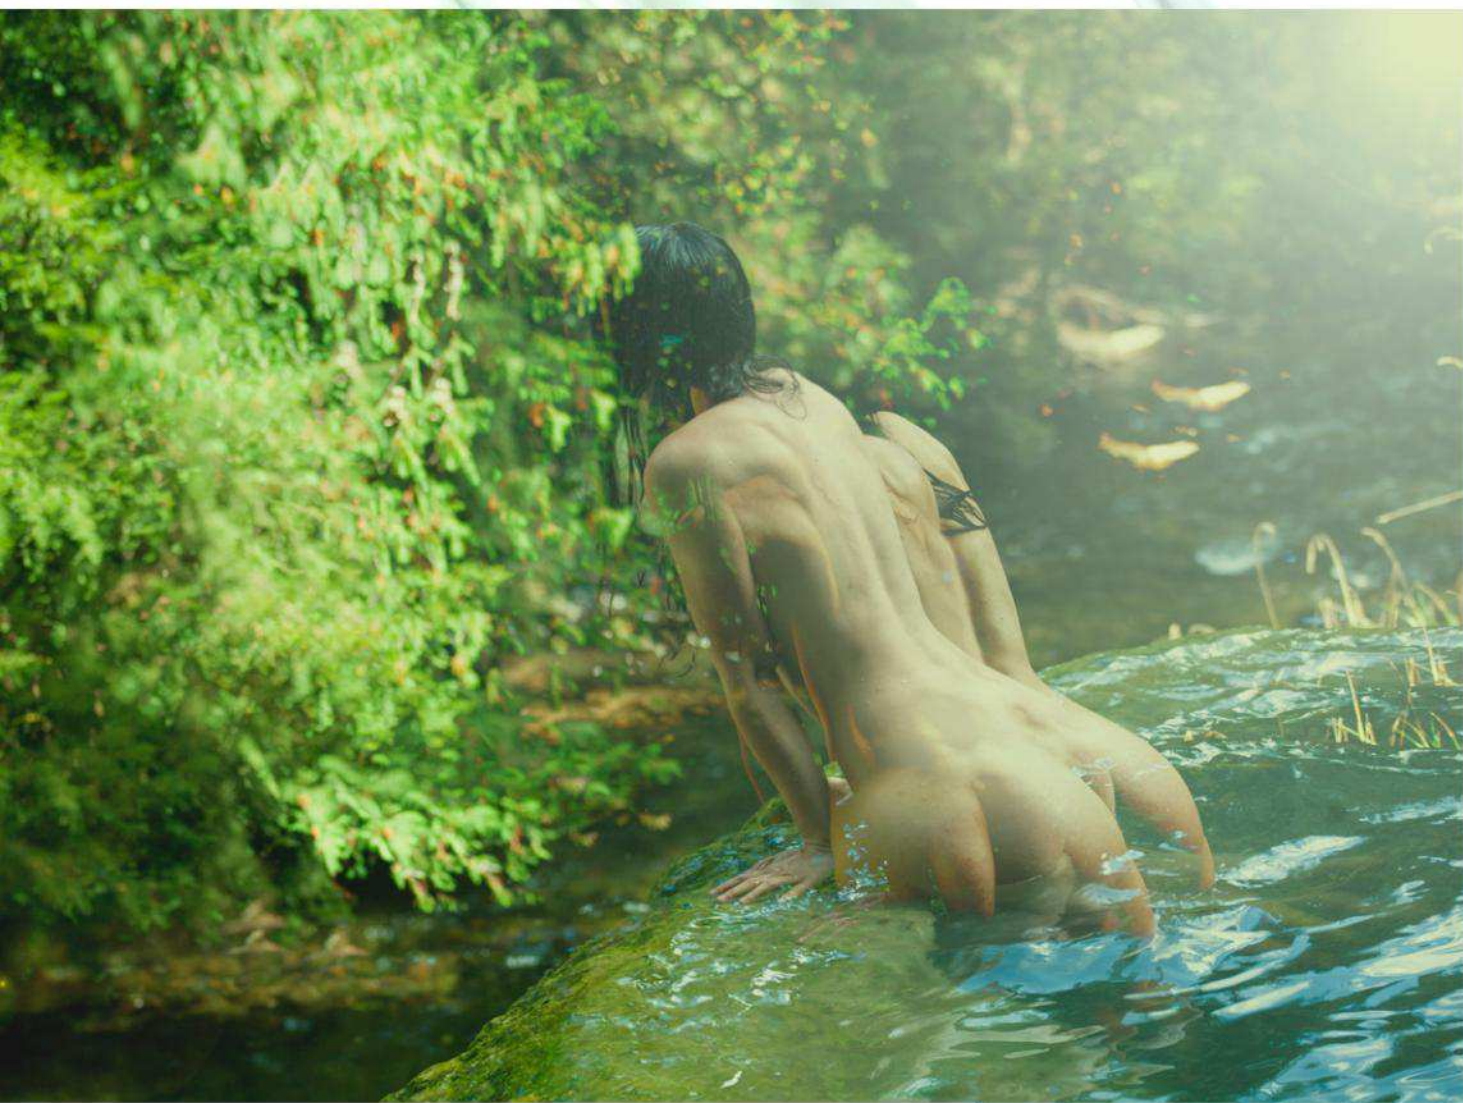

"Although I love the process and am immensely passionate about exploration and expression, the much larger picture lies outside of my realm. My greatest hope is to be the spark that ignites thousands of other fuses that will cause chain reactions of inspiration and fuel that blazing hot fire that is the hunger for creation!"

JORDAN RIVER

Jordan River is a free lance, traveling model based out of the Pacific Northwest in Portland, OR. A creative mind, mindfully creating embodied nude art. She started modeling after she made a promise to herself to say “yes” to the things that scared her. Since then, she can’t get enough of playing with her edges and pushing boundaries. As a young woman, she became aware of devaluing certain parts of herself, deeming them as “bad”, “dangerous”, or “not enough”. Shooting has been a way that deepened her capacity to allow and express all the parts of herself that had been rejected, denied, and suppressed. These works are a reclamation of those lost parts. A ReWilding. She considers it her sacred activism to create healing images and narratives around the female body to reclaim women's power. She loves exploring through modeling, dance, and sexuality as a means to evolve and grow beyond her wildest imagination, where old paradigms crumble and newness is born. Through embodiment of sensuality and sexuality, she wishes to inspire others into contact with their own magic and unique self expression.

VASSANTA IN BIG SUR

shot by DAVID NICHOLS

DAVID NICHOLS

VOLONETWORK.COM/WALL

Just a photographer who loves beauty, it's all about the beauty to me. I was born and raised in a small town in Alabama, love being outside in nature. I'm a self-taught photographer never been to a photography school, trial and error is the easiest way for me to learn. I'm a little bit color blind so most of my work is black and white, but will do some color work every now and then. Was mainly a landscape shooter for several years, about four years ago I worked with a local model and was hooked, started doing a lot of studio work. Over the last year I have decided what I love to shoot the most is finding a great location and shoot art nudes.

VASSANTA

Vassanta has been modeling for several years as a glamour and fine art nude model. She is an art lover and art maker. From Russia now living in Alabama, she is not only beautiful but also has an amazing vibe, a free spirit and just a very cool person. Just tell her what your concept is and the type of look you're after and let her go. She has inspired me to show more of my work. I have worked with her several times and look forward to anytime we get together.

TROPICAL RAIN

LEI LILIUM shot by MARC BOILY

The gorgeous driveway, the immaculate doorway, the staircase and chandellere in the foyer, and the absolutely beautiful yard; where I spent the duration of my shoot. As I stepped out I could see the heavy rain falling as if the yard were shrouded in mist. It wasn't a cold rain at all, warm and welcoming instead. Peeping through the rain I could see the Dolphin fountains and the decorative tiki's. Walking out I noticed the buddhist statues that were guarding the staircase toward a dirty little fishpond, which I soon discovered belongs to not only the fish but a little frog family. Off in the distance I could hear the crashing of waves, such a beautiful song with the rains of Hawaii. How could we not enjoy dancing in the rain.

MARC BOILY

VOLONETWORK.COM/WALL

Laid-off in 2003 from my job as a senior designer for a major Canadian TV broadcaster, with a little more time on my hands I've decided to pursue a few dreams I had in mind... It starts with flying Quadcopter, shooting video and stills with an eye from above. I've also spent 3 years in Film School back in 1990 and never pursued that until now, naturally the Camera has a large impact on the results and fascinates me! I'm about to embark on a long journey with no clear road map ahead but a desire to look from above and beyond. So I've decided to explore photography from all angles which is very much an extension of my 15 years in graphic design working on other people's pictures, time to work with my own. I hope you enjoy the scenery through my eyes.

Inspirations: Music, landscape, light, Arts, the perception one has seeing things through a small rectangle and the multiple interpretations it can provide. A long list of fabulous photographers from the Marc Lorange, Szymon Brodziak to Ingo Kremmel.

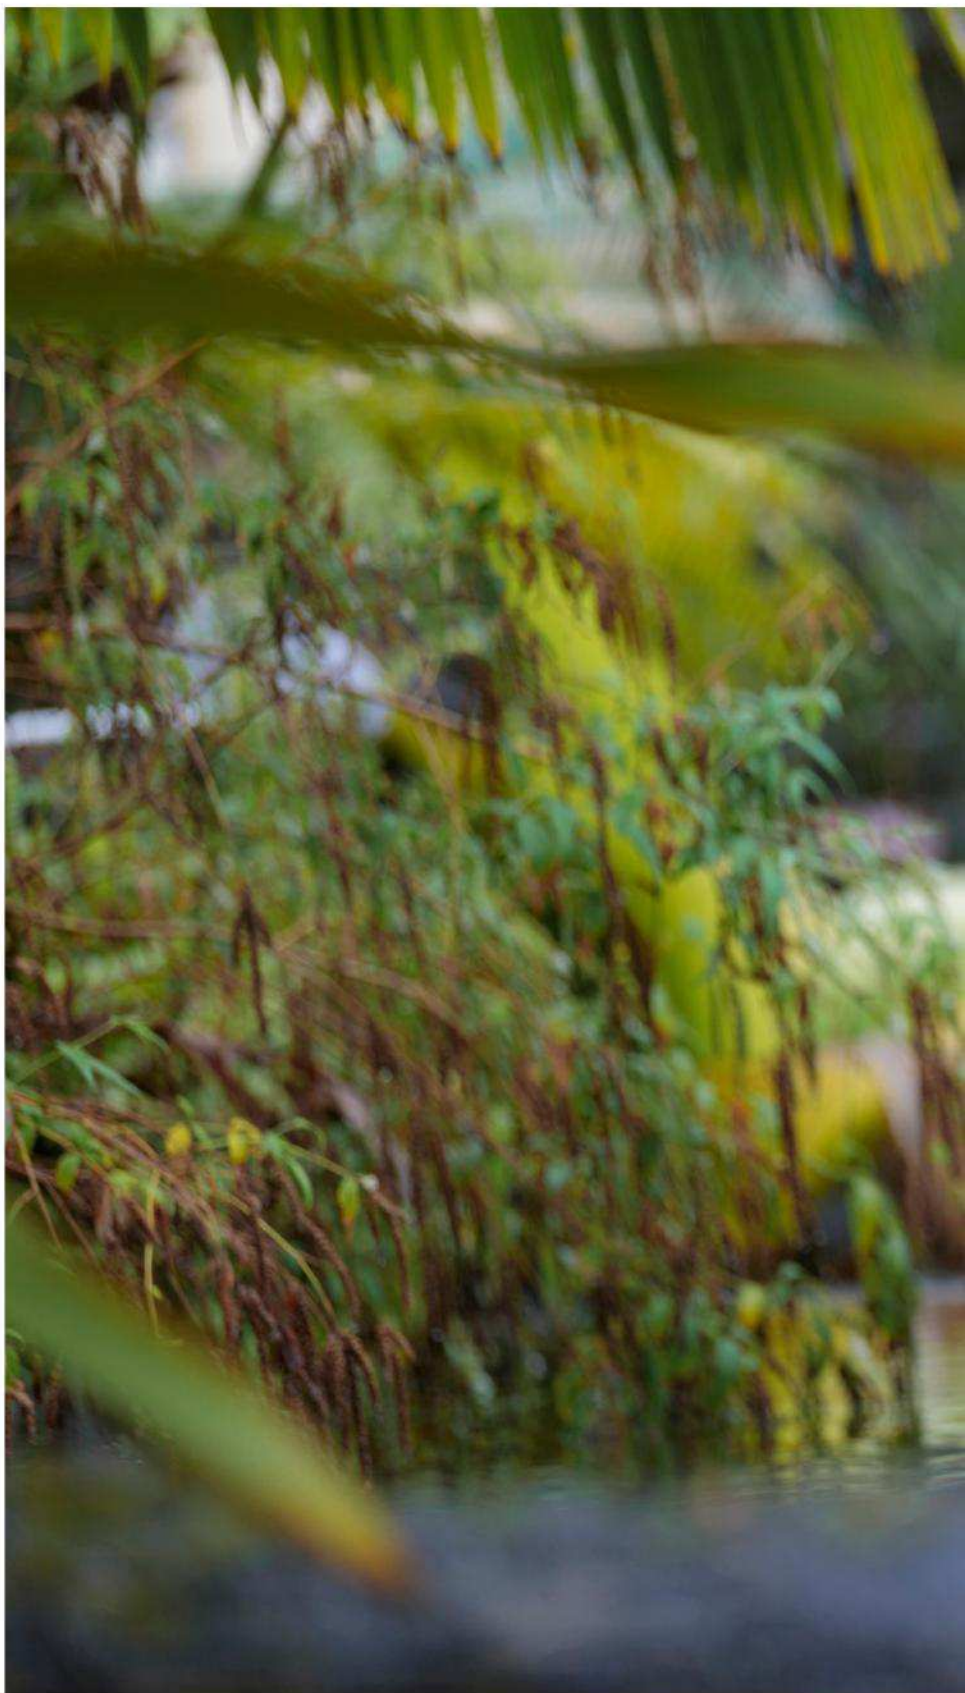

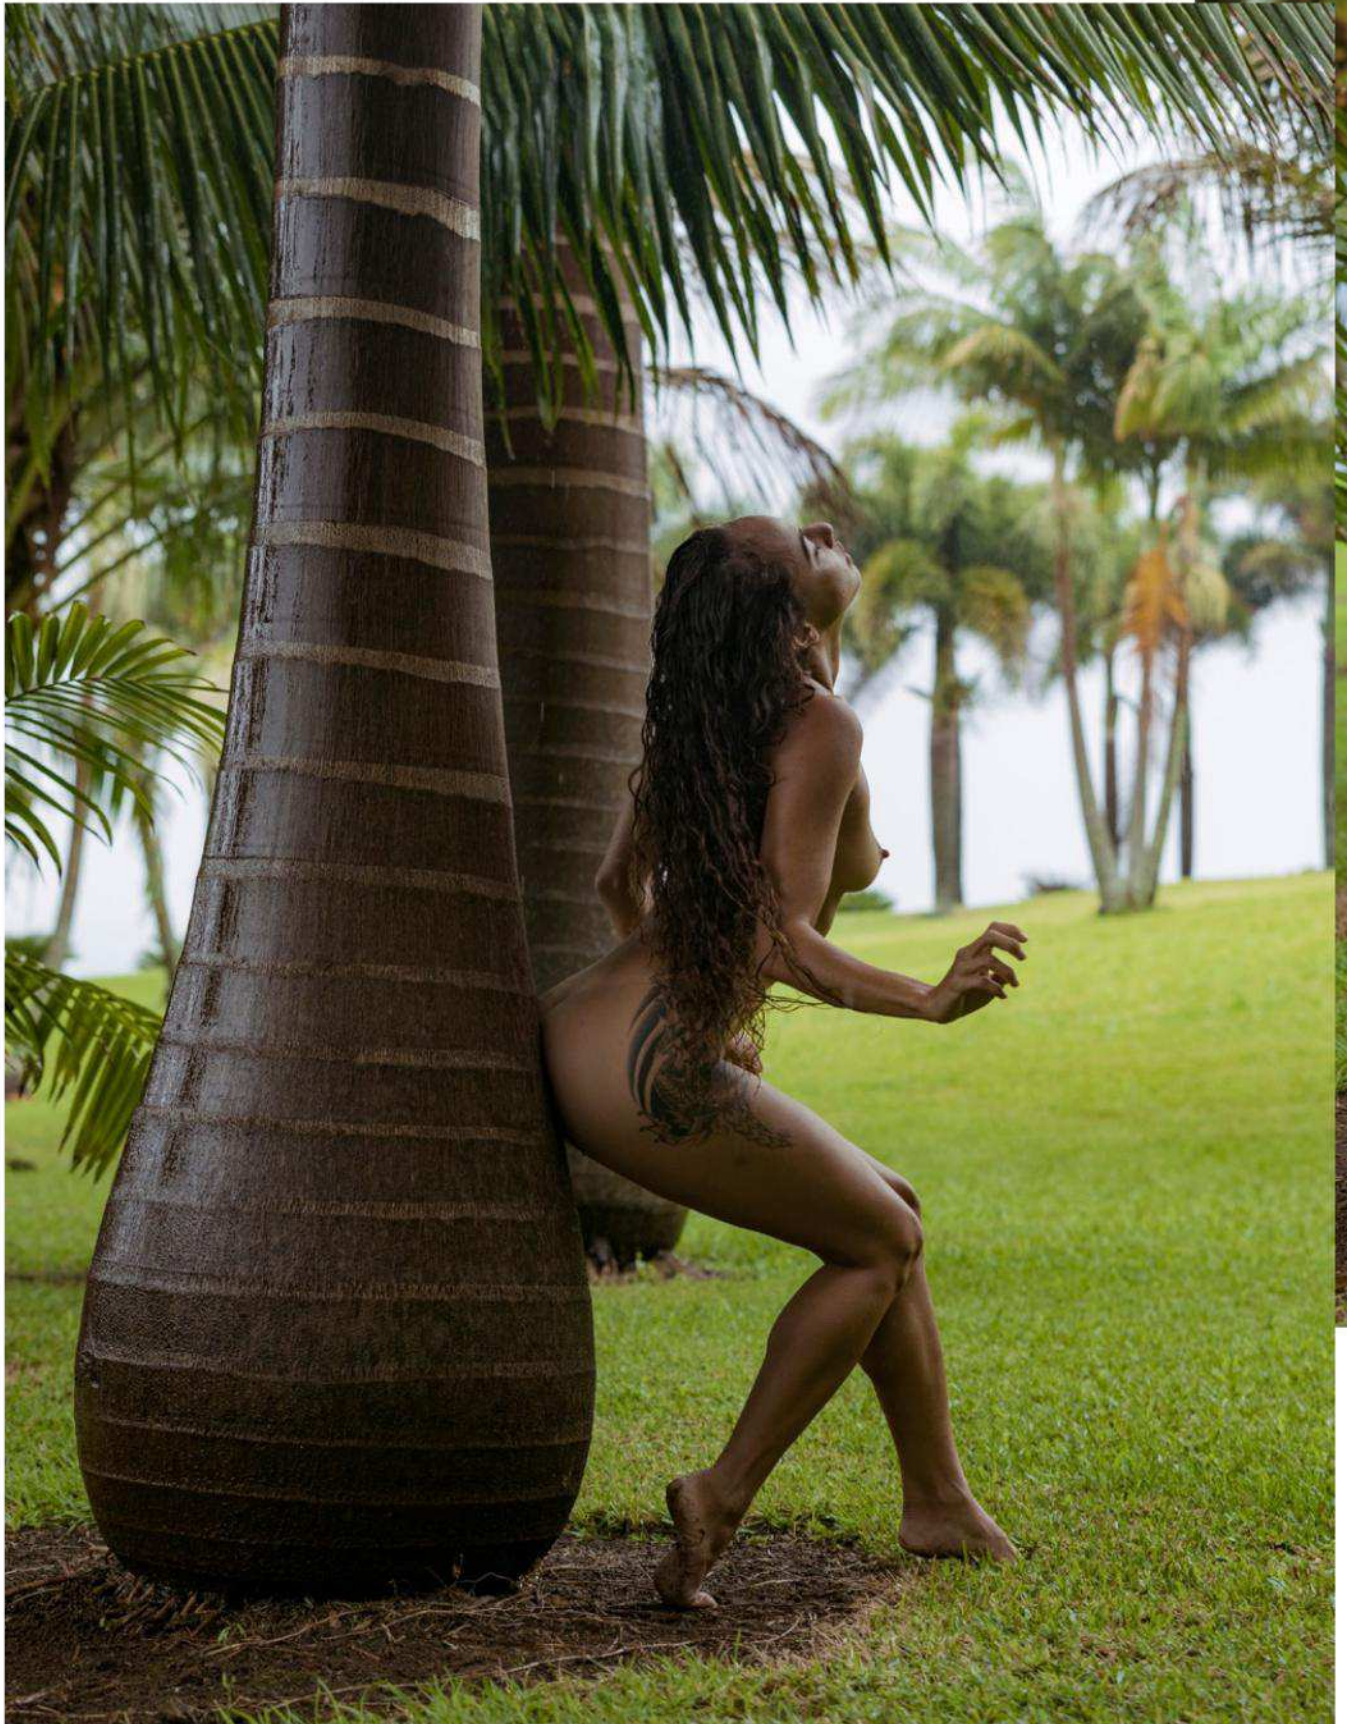

A hand with a tattoo reaches out from the left side of the frame, fingers slightly curled. The background is a soft-focus field of tall grass or reeds, bathed in the warm, golden light of a sunset or sunrise. The sky is a pale, hazy orange. The overall mood is contemplative and serene.

PURSUIT OF THE NIGHT

TAYLOR MCKENNA shot by JASON KAMERATH

Pursuing the night, seeking the cool, cold envelope of the darkening sky. The concept behind this shoot was to fight through the last bits of daylight and really explore the depth of the landscape and the models exploration through it.

JASON KAMERATH

VOLONETWORK.COM/WALL

"Defining yourself, your work, and its meaning is often one of the most simple and difficult things an artist can do. As an artist, I am often confronted by fans, models, family, and every day people about why I create what I create and the meaning behind it... To put it simply, I am chasing after a moment in time. That instant when you connect with the world and see it for what it truly could be for the very first time. I have been pursuing after that sense of wonder since the moment I could pick up a pencil, I constantly push myself to create imagery that stops people in their tracks... Nothing can really beat that first moment, that brief pause when your breath stops, your eyes lock, all the sound turns off. It is just you and this feeling that you're not alone... This artist get's you, they understand you, and in that instant the world feels bigger. If I can make a difference in just one persons life... then the heart-ache and anguish that can often go into creating an image... It just all feels worth it, just knowing that for a split second the world stopped spinning for somebody, and for a split second neither of us was truly alone."

Chris Kennedy is a cinematographer and still photographer. Who primarily does work in video production. His work ranges from a feature length film "Demonia Undertaker", to numerous music videos, and commercials. He transitioned to still photography from a bet while in film school, when he shot a behind the scenes video for a photographer friend. After the shoot, his friend asked what he thought; Chris was surprised at the ease of the still photography process and said that "I can do better!" He picked up a DSLR and has had the photography bug ever since he proved he was a better photographer.

While he prefers for his cinematography to have a very natural look, he prefers his still photography to look like the Playboy-glamour centerfolds of the 1970's. Since a photoshoot in the Bahamas when he was limited to natural lighting, he developed a love for natural lighting as well as the dozens of lights required for a more glamour look. So he's quite versatile, shooting both stills and video, as well as intricately lit and/or natural lighting.

Chris has been shooting photography for a little over seven years, has been published in several magazines, and currently is the Owner/Operator of Presidential Film and Photography, LLC.
